

USE FATALITY REPORTS TO GET WORKERS TO TAKE HEAT STRESS SERIOUSLY

THE PROBLEM: Delivering heat stress training won't do anybody any good if workers don't pay attention. Unfortunately, the self-preservation instinct can't be counted on to kick in automatically, even for a topic as imperative as heat stress. What's needed is a kick in the rear end to remind workers that this stuff is serious and that exposure to excessive heat can kill.

HOW THE TOOL HELPS SOLVE THE PROBLEM: Here's a series of true stories you can use to make this point in your training sessions.
